The stallion facilities at Leeman Farms were designed with strict considerations given to safety, and with the flexibility to meet the needs of the individual stallion. Stallions are stabled in well-ventilated large stalls. Daily turnout is available and encouraged in paddocks, specifically designed and constructed for safe confinement. Semen collections are performed in our large breeding shed designed with stallion and personnel safety as the primary concern. All collections are performed following protocols that are designed with the goal of obtaining the highest quality ejaculate possible. After the semen is collected it is immediately evaluated and processed for the desired purpose. Evaluations are performed using state-of-the-art equipment and protocols in the industry.
